OPEN ACCESS LICENSE POLICY FOR IJIMH:

At IJFIRH, we are committed to promoting the growth and development of Homoeopathy. We believe that open access to research is the best way to achieve this goal, and we are proud to be part of the open access movement.

To this end, we use the Creative Commons Attribution – NonCommercial 4.0 International License for all content published in our journal. This license allows others to distribute, remix, and build upon our work, as long as they credit the original source and do not use the work for commercial purposes.

We believe that this license provides the right balance between openness and protection of intellectual property. It allows our content to be shared and reused for non-commercial purposes, while ensuring that we receive proper credit for our work.

We encourage others to use our content for non-commercial purposes, and we are happy to collaborate with researchers and practitioners around the world to promote the growth and development of Homoeopathy.

We believe that open access to research can help to promote greater collaboration and dialogue among researchers and practitioners around the world. By making research more accessible, we hope to foster greater understanding and cooperation within the field.

We are committed to maintaining the highest standards of academic rigor and quality in our journal, and we believe that open access can help to promote these standards by making research more transparent and accessible.

We believe that our use of the Creative Commons Attribution – NonCommercial 4.0 International License will help to promote the growth and development of Homoeopathy, and we look forward to working with researchers and practitioners around the world to achieve this goal.

Thank you for considering our open access license policy. We believe that this policy will help to promote the advancement of knowledge in Homoeopathy, and we look forward to collaborating with you in the future.
